Episcopal Standards Amendment Bill 2018

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM

Introduction

1. This Bill introduces a number of amendments to the Episcopal Standards Act 2015 (the Principal Act), being amendments that include—
 - (a) to correct drafting issues or matters of uncertainty identified since its enactment;
 - (b) to reflect recent enactments by General Synod; and
 - (c) to address an issue of indemnifying a witness.

General

2. At its meeting in September 2017, the General Synod of the Church enacted the Holy Orders (Removal from Exercise of Ministry) Canon 2017. The canon provides for the deposition of a member of the clergy from the exercise of Holy Orders and for the effect of that deposition. The canon also provides for prohibition from functioning in particular orders. This gives rise to the need for consequential amendments to the Act, in particular, the provisions dealing with prohibition and deposition.
3. This Bill therefore amends the Episcopal Standards Act 2015 to ensure consistency with the operation of the General Synod canon, to the extent that the question of deposition or prohibition from functioning arises in an episcopal standards proceeding.
4. General Synod also enacted the Episcopal Standards (Child Protection) Canon 2017 which applies to diocesan bishops and former diocesan bishops and is confined to child protection matters. The Bill introduces new section 22A and amended section 52 to facilitate, in the discretion of the Episcopal Standards Committee (Vic), the transfer of a matter to either the Episcopal Standards Commission or the Board (the General Synod bodies). Various other consequential amendments are made to the Act to reflect the role that the Episcopal Standards Board may play under that canon. Other amendments to the definition of “misconduct” are intended to ensure that the Episcopal Standards Act 2015 is a complying ordinance for the purposes of that canon. If it is, an appropriate matter can be transferred to the regime established under the canon.
5. Clause 16 of the Bill inserts a new section 77A in the Principal Act. This provision is intended in a limited way to give both the Episcopal Standards Board (Vic) and Review Board the power to stipulate special procedures. These procedures where it is sought to examine or cross examine a child or a victim of sexual abuse. The provisions are derived from the provisions in Part 2 of the Criminal Procedure Act 2009 (Vic) which provides for special procedures in cases of this kind. They are intended to encourage such persons to come forward and give evidence where otherwise they may be reluctant to do so. The amendment seeks to ensure that best practice is observed.

6. Clause 21 inserts paragraph (1) in section 107 which empowers the Diocesan Corporation to indemnify a witness in a professional standards proceeding if the directors so resolve. Unlike a witness before a State court or tribunal, a witness before a professional standards Board or Review Board does not enjoy immunity from suit in connection with giving evidence. The due administration of justice can be adversely affected if a witness is dissuaded from giving evidence by the threat of civil litigation. The provision is intended to empower the Diocesan Corporation to indemnify witness in those circumstances if it is appropriate to do so and thereby offer some protection to the witness.
